Brown bear brown bear what do you see math activities

When you think of classic preschool picture books, several come to mind. But Brown Bear, Brown Bear, What Do You See? by Bill Martin Jr. must be one of the top books on every list. The simple repetitive text and the great illustrations by Eric Carle make this book a favorite from year to year. After reading this book with your preschoolers, use the activities below to retell the story, explore colors, or develop literacy skills. Pre-K, Pre-K What Do You See? Class Book (Pre-K Pages) Brown Bear Brown Bear Printable Language Activity (Growing Book by Book) Color Matching Activity (No Time for Flash Cards) Brown Bear Button Snake Retelling Activity (I Can Teach My Child) Brown Bear Story Beads (Preschool Inspirations) Color Scavenger Hunt (Crayon Freckles) Brown Bear Brown Bear Gross Motor Ideas (3 Dinosaurs) Melted Crayon Brown Bear (My Little Me) Pool Noodle Animal Stamping (Educators' Spin On It) Big Letter, Little Letter What Do You See? (Growing Book by Book) Brown Bear Lacing Cards Busy Bag (Preschool Inspirations) Brown Bear Puppet (Coffee Cups and Crayons) Brown Bear Paper Plate Mask (Daniel4's Mom) Brown Bear Color Game (Toddler Approved) Brown Bear Brown Bear Themed Sensory Tub (Childhood 101) Check out this list for more Books with Repetitive and Predictable Text. Focus Story: Brown Bear, Brown Bear, What Do You See by Bill Martin, Jr.Companion Story: I See Colors by Rozanne Lanczak WilliamsCompanion Poem: Teddy Bear, Teddy BearDay 1Focus Story:Introduce the title, author and illustrator of Brown Bear, Brown Bear, What Do You See?. Ask students to look closely at the cover. Ask students to think about what a brown bear might see. Show students the inside cover and ask them to name the colors that they see. How might the colors be related to what the bear will see? Take a picture walk and encourage students to talk about the animals and the colors that they see. Ask students to say what they see in complete sentences. "I see a (color) (animal)." When the students see the picture of the blue horse, stop and ask them if they have ever seen a real horse. What color was it? Can a horse really be blue? Do they think this is a real or make believe story? Tell students to be on the lookout for more colored animals that the author and illustrator imagined. Were the animals in the book what the students thought the brown bear might see?Read aloud the story, allowing students to chime in once they are familiar with the repetition of the words. Ask students what the brown bear saw. Did he see all of the animals in the story? Show students a mural with trees, a house, a barn and fenced in barnyard, and a pond. Flip through the pages of the story, helping students to review which animals saw each other. (exp. brown bear looked up and saw red bird, red bird looked down and saw yellow duck, etc...) As you review, ask students to place cut outs of each animal in a place on the mural where it might really be found (and close to the animal that saw it!) (Please note: This activity is an adaptation of an idea from the Eric Carle bulletin board.)Day 2Focus Story:Reread the focus story, Brown Bear, Brown Bear, What Do You See?, encouraging students to join in on the repetitive phrases. For phoneme discrimination, ask students to listen to the following names of animals from the story, Brown Bear, Brown Bear, What Do You See? Do the animal names contain the same beginning sound?bear/bird - yesduck/cat - nodog/duck - yesfish/frog - yeshorse/sheep - noPoint children's attention to the mural from yesterday. Remind students that yesterday they had to work to remember the order the animals saw each other to complete the mural. Today, they need to remember the same order - because they will be the animals! Choose students to play the part of the animals from the story and give each one a necklace depicting an animal. Students not chosen will get to be the children shown at the end of the story who name all of the animals they see! Let all students say the first line of the story together. When the student wearing the brown bear necklace hears the word bear, he or she stands up and goes to the front of the room. The brown bear then says the next line in the story and the red bird takes his/her place next to the bear. Continue through the end of the story...All Students : "Brown Bear, Brown Bear, what do you see?"Bear: "I see a red bird looking at me!"All Students: "Red bird, red bird, what do you see?"Red Bird: "I see a yellow duck looking at me!"continue until the part of the teacher is reachedAll Students: "Teacher, teacher, what do you see?"Teacher: "I see children looking at me!"All animals: "Children, children who do you see?"Children not chosen as animals: "We see a brown bear, a red bird, a yellow duck..." If you read Brown Bear, Brown Bear, What Do You See? by Eric Carle, you are going to want to download our printable activities that are created to enjoy at home or school with your preschooler and kindergartner. The Brown Bear Activity Pack is full of fun and engaging activities that are themed with brown bears (of course) a red bird, yellow duck, blue horse, and all the colorful characters. I LOVED making this pack. I originally planned on it being 100 pages, but the ideas kept coming and I couldn't stop, and it grew to a whopping 150+ pages. Children can have fun being creative with playdough mats, graphing colors, making a brown bear lift the flap craft, putting together puzzles, doing do-a-dot pages, counting with 10-frames, and SO MUCH MORE!!! Check out the full list of activities that are included. This pack will give you loads of activities to choose from or you can use them all! You can also use several of the activities over again with other "Bear Themed" books too. Each activity in this pack has been carefully created with a purpose behind it. Activities cover foundational basics like alphabet letters, numbers, colors, and shapes, while also teaching animal homes, ordinal numbers, graphing, sorting and more. If you are a fan of Eric Carle books (which I'm pretty sure everyone in the whole world is...) our popular Hungry Caterpillar Activity Pack may come in handy for you too.
